ABOUT MYSELF

My name is Ahmad Al-Ahmad, 35 years old. I am a Syrian from Homs, Currently residing in Cairo, Egypt.

I graduated from the Faculty of Music Education at Al-Baath University in 2017, specializing in Guitar performance. I was honored twice by the University for receiving the Academic Excellence Award.

I am a music teacher and a Classical Guitar lecturer, with over a decade of experience in teaching classical guitar at various institutes since 2013.

I am a member of Mosaic Band, an oriental Syrian band that has performed in numerous concerts and festivals both inside and outside Syria. In 2017, I had the opportunity to perform with Mosaic band at the Jazz Festival in Sibiu, Romania.

Throughout my career, I have participated in several prestigious workshops, including:

- A Classical Guitar workshop in Lebanon at the American University of NDY with Professor Susan McDonald in 2017.

- A Songwriting workshop with Professor Ravi Hutheesing in 2017.

- A children's Rights workshop organized by Humans For Peace Institution Canada (online).

- A Music Composition workshop at the American University in Egypt with Professor Jimmy Wind in 2021.

My passion for music extends beyond performance and education, as I continuously seek opportunities to expend my knowledge and refine my skills.
